Forest, a Realization (On Vidyavanam)

In silence, solitude speaks

To his restless heart.

“Acharya, go into the wilderness of life.”

He started.

Beginning from his expectations,

Moving into the deep of the forest,

Seeking a place to rest my heart.

He observed.

A deliberate journey with speechless sense.

Through pathless roads with green darkness.

The clouds are running,

is fearless walk, seeing.

He knew.

A forest in his heart.

Footprints rhythmically moving

Listening to his breath, the heart to conquer.

Entering into the forest of realization.

He realized.

Trees in silence, contemplating.

Roots in darkness, searching:

For Red Holy streams,

Growing into eternal.

He contemplated.

Until, in Him united!
